

Servian Security Compass

Security. Measured so you can manage.

Servian's Security Compass has been developed from our collective industry experience and security expertise to help build, improve, and measure your organisation's cybersecurity posture.

The program, run over a two-week timeframe, uses a comprehensive framework of security best practices - across five key dimensions - that help to benchmark your organisation's capabilities, identify strengths and gaps, and determine focus areas.

What is it

Security Compass is a rapid, holistic assessment of your organisation's security maturity, across People, Process and Technology.

Security Compass surfaces where you are on your security journey. Providing a clear risk aware view that tailors to your business model to ensure investment is optimised.

What are the benefits

Security Compass helps you understand your current security posture, providing the tools for your organisation to prioritise its security roadmap.

Security Compass has been designed to assist the leadership team in properly addressing security questions, along with providing an actionable security maturation roadmap with a focus on automation and ongoing visibility.

What we deliver

Maturity report

- This report outlines the scoring across five key areas: Identify, Protect, Detect, Respond, Recover
- Each has a point score which feeds into an overall maturity score for the application.

Roadmap

- A roadmap that lists the next steps and low hanging fruits that make a positive impact on the business. Each has a point score which feeds into an overall maturity score for the application.
